Equality Today? Exploring the impact (or otherwise) of the Equality Act and other equality measures on LGBTQI+ lives

One-day conference for academics, researchers and activists conducting research on sexual orientation and gender identity issues and / or Bisexual, Gay, Intersex, Lesbian, Trans, Queer .. lives.

Friday June 9th 2017, 10am – 4pm University of Manchester

Reception (non alcoholic) from 4.30pm to 6.30pm at the LGBT Centre, Sidney Street

It has been 2 years since the academics and activists research conference at the University of Manchester. That was the 4th conference of its kind following London (December 2000), Newcastle (2008), and South Bank University (2012). This 2017 Conference seeks, again, to bring together academics, researchers and activists from across the country to focus on research and chart a way forward which bridges the gap between academia and activism. It follows commitment from a number of UCU Congresses to support such a conference in the interests of promoting these areas of study.

£14 for non UCU members

Free for UCU members and 1 presenter per scheduled paper

Registration is online at <https://ucu.wufoo.com/forms/ucu-lgbt-research-conference-2017/>
